In effect every argument that can be conceived makes in favour of the foreigner mustering the Obinese language. It would be 60,000.00 the subject that the Ohinese speaking morchant must attain far greater success than the man wto resorts to the lary and inefficient medium of pillgin English. Yet how about the facts? Are the foreigners. who have learned Chinese more successfu than those who have not? We cannot say that they are. We have known several men who, in the old days of trade, when the infrequent wails gave ample leisure for such employment, mastered the language and spoke it fluently and freely. Where are they? They have tared precisely like other people who nevor took the pains to study a page of a Chinese book. Now if fortune does not especially favour those who take this sensible and obvious means to secure success, and smiles upon men who think more of the turf than of tea, we are bound to say that she is in this country capricions beyond her usual capriciousness, and willyward beyond her usual wont. "The race is not to the swift nor the buttle to the strong, nor yet riches to men of understanding" anywhere; but the Ecclesinat would have said this Grave and solemn in his uspect, with the with added emphasis had he pondered on
